KANSAS PRAIRIE WETLANDS II

This project will benefit critical habitat by acquiring, restoring and enhancing 5,091 acres of the Quivira wetland complex. The wetlands in this project provide important migration habitat for waterfowl, shorebirds, wading birds and other migratory birds, being utilized by an estimated 45 percent of the shorebirds in the Western Hemisphere during spring migration. This includes 90 percent of the white-rumped, Baird's, and stilt sandpipers, long-billed dowitchers and Wilson's phalaropes. These projects will restore wetlands and provide a unique opportunity to convert poor quality cropland into wetland and upland habitat that can be enjoyed by the public. Other species benefitted include least terns, piping plovers, mallards, northern pintails, wood ducks, king rails and American bitterns.
